TICKETRETURN ADDS BATAVIA AS A NEW BASEBALL PARTNER

The Batavia Muckdogs will enter the season with the leader in ticketing technology powering their box office operations. The Muckdogs Box Office team will leverage industry-leading box office, online and mobile ticketing technologies to elevate the ticket transaction experience for their fans.

TicketReturn offers nearly two decades of technology management experience to help clients across the country exceed their goals. The Charlotte, NC based company offers a full suite of ticketing innovations, including event marketing, access control, attendance reporting, accounting and fundraising features for sports and entertainment venues.

“We elected to partner with TicketReturn in large part due to the ease of use of the software, not only for our fans but for our front office team.” said Marc Witt, General Manager.

TicketReturn will work in concert with Batavia to improve overall ticket operations and offer a variety of ticket packages and options to their fans. TicketReturn also has several built-in incremental revenue tools that will allow the front office team to maximize each transaction and provide additional options and experiences to fans in the online environment.

“The TicketReturn team is excited to work with the Batavia Muckdogs as they begin the 2021 season.” said Christie Hussey, Vice President of Sales and Marketing for TicketReturn “We take pride in building lasting relationships, getting to know each partner and serving in a consultative manner as we help maximize ticket sales throughout the season.”

TicketReturn will serve as the official provider of box office, online and mobile ticketing technologies for the Batavia Muckdogs.

This partnership furthers TicketReturn’s commitment to provide ticketing solutions and services to professional sports teams, cultural facilities, colleges and universities throughout the country.
