TICKETRETURN, RIDGEFIELD RAPTORS TEAM UP TO PROVIDE WEST COAST LEAGUE FANS WITH AN EASY-TO-USE TICKETING PLATFORM

Fans of the new collegiate wood bat baseball team will soon take advantage of an intuitive online ticketing solution that puts them in control

TicketReturn is excited to add its second West Coast League team, the Ridgefield Raptors (Ridgefield, Wash.) to its client roster. The expansion baseball club, which will begin play in June 2019, will employ TicketReturn's easy-to-use online ticketing technology.

TicketReturn, a leading provider of box office, online and mobile ticketing services, offers nearly two decades of technology management experience to help clients across the country exceed their goals. The Charlotte, N.C.-based company offers a full suite of ticketing innovations, including event marketing, access control, attendance reporting, accounting and fundraising features for sports and entertainment venues.

Throughout the partnership, the Raptors will use TicketReturn's online portal, so fans can easily manage their tickets. Each fan can print tickets from home, view them on a mobile device or transfer them to a friend or family member.

The Ridgefield Raptors are owned by Tony Bonacci, who also serves as the West Coast League president.

The Raptors said it was an easy decision to partner with TicketReturn because of its reputation for unrivaled customer service and quick onboarding. The team will continue to receive ongoing training and support from a dedicated client support representative.

The Ridgefield Raptors will begin play in June 2019 as a member of the West Coast League. The team will play at the Ridgefield Outdoor Recreation Complex in Ridgefield, Wash.

"We pride ourselves on providing both superior client service and a fan-centric ticketing platform to all of our partners," said Christie Hussey, Vice President of Sales and Marketing at TicketReturn. "We're excited to begin working with the Raptors and look forward to supporting them for years to come."

The Ridgefield Raptors, based in Ridgefield, Wash. will begin play in June 2019 as a member of the West Coast League (WCL). The West Coast League is a collegiate wood bat baseball league. The team will play at the Ridgefield Outdoor Recreation Complex, which will accommodate up to 2,500 fans.

This partnership furthers TicketReturn's commitment to provide ticketing solutions and services to professional sports teams, colleges and universities throughout the country.
